

For Clubs: Understanding Boundaries

Be Aware. Pay attention to verbal and non-verbal cues.

Acknowledge. Respect and honor every person's boundaries.

Show Empathy. Be patient, listen and reflect to find new ways to communicate and value change in your community or club.

Be Respectful. Treat people with all abilities with the same respect, fairness and kindness you would want for yourself.

Consent. Never assume help is needed. Always seek permission before offering help.

Flexibility. Be prepared to adjust your approach to address individual needs and preferences.

Listen. Listen to what the person needs for assistance, how they wish to communicate and how they want to participate.
